STATEMENT OF PURPOSE AND POLICY

The Wake Forest Jurist is published twice yearly by the Wake Forest School of Law of Wake Forest University. Its main purpose is to inform the friends and alumni of the Law School about activities and events of interest at the Law School, of recent important decisions by the courts of North Carolina and other jurisdictions, and news of the achievements and activities of fellow alumni. In this way the Jurist seeks to provide a service and a meaningful link between the School of Law and its alumni. Also, the magazine shall provide a forum for the creative talents of students, faculty and its alumni and an opportunity for legal writing by them. Opinions expressed and positions advocated herein are those of the authors and do not represent official policy of the School of Law.

All rights to reproduction of any material printed in the Jurist are reserved to the magazine. Permission for adaption of the content for any other publication must be granted in writing from the Editor-in-Chief.

FROM THE DEAN

John D. Scarlett

During the past twelve months, I have traveled throughout North Carolina meeting many of you for the first time and renewing old acquaintances from my teaching years. I have visited the East: Rocky Mount, Greenville, New Bern, Wilmington, Clinton, and Fayetteville; and the Piedmont: Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Durham, Raleigh, and Charlotte. While currently concentrating in North Carolina, I am also well aware of the fact that our graduates have come from various parts of the country and are practicing in many different states in the Nation. While we cannot yet claim to have a graduate in every state in the country, we can find alumni practicing from Maine to California. Recognizing the diversity of our graduates, I have tried to secure your names and telephone numbers whenever I travel to a part of the country where you live. We have planned a meeting to be held in Washington, D.C. within the next few months. Somewhat closer to home, we will also be visiting in the western part of the state.

Those of you who are members of the North Carolina Bar Association and who plan to attend the annual meeting in June will soon receive information on a reception and dinner planned for Wake Forest alumni. I look forward to seeing you there.

As many of you know, we recently received a visit from an accreditation team representing the American Bar Association and the American Association of Law Schools. The team was headed by David T. Link, Dean of the School of Law, Notre Dame University. Other members of the team included: David C. Epstein, Dean, University of Arkansas School of Law, Fayetteville, Arkansas; Penelope A. Hazelton, Head Librarian, University of Maine School of Law; Morris W. Macey, Senior Partner, Macey and Zusmann, Atlanta, Georgia. We were very pleased with the composition of the team and found them to be cooperative and thorough. The team had an opportunity to visit with the faculty, the students, the Board of Visitors, and a special law school committee from the Board of Trustees. During their three day stay they turned up many problems. The major problems are ones that we have already shared with you: library holdings, student-faculty ratio, and faculty salaries. We hope to receive their report within the next few weeks and we will keep you informed on our continuing efforts to solve these problems.

Our faculty picture for next year is clear at this time. We are very fortunate to have the services of two of our professors who have been away for the past year. Charles Rose, who has been pursuint his S.J.D. at the University of Michigan School of Law, and George K. Walker, who has been a visiting professor at William and Mary School of Law, will be returning. We look forward to having them with us again and believe that their experiences will enrich ours. Fred Davis, who has been visiting with us from the University of Missouri at Columbia, will return there next year. We have enjoyed Fred's stay with us. David Shores will visit at the University of Missouri at Columbia Law School next spring. There is a certain irony in this situation and we believe David will enrich their program as Fred has enriched ours.

The faculty Curriculum Committee has spent a great deal of time during the past year examining our current curriculum and fielding recommendations from all of their colleagues. They recently submitted a recommendation on a new curriculum for the school. Discussions of their proposal will last for sometime and we plan a retreat in late summer to discuss their proposals. The retreat will allow us to concentrate our discussions not only on curriculum, but will give us the opportunity to hone our conception of where Wake Forest is going. Like the Triumph commercial, we will concentrate on "the shape of things to come."

One area that has been receiving a great deal of attention is in the clinical field. We recently approved a Judicial Clerkship program that will permit our students to serve as law clerks for judges in the various state and federal courts in the United States during the summer, fall, and spring semesters.

Our students are, of course, our most important ingredient. We have cause to be proud of each of their accomplishments. The Moot Court Board has sponsored two teams that have claimed victory for the School of Law. William Mills and Martin Garcia won the Mugel Tax Competition in Buffalo, New York just recently. Rick Glazier, Fred Granum, Debra Meyer, and Richard Poole represented Wake Forest at the regional level of the International Law Competition in Miami, Florida in March. Their brief won the "Best Brief" award and was entered in the national competition. They placed third in that competition, two points behind the teams that tied for first place.

Law Day, sponsored by the Student Bar Association, was an enjoyable event this year. Held on April 12 at Bermuda Run, Law Day included a reception for the third year students, a dinner, a speech by Dale Bumpers, Senator from the State of Arkansas, and ended with a dance. Hiram Ward, a member of our Board of Visitors, was honored with an award as Outstanding Alumnus of the Year. Pasco Bowman was honored by the Jurist when he was presented with the Excellence in Teaching Award.

Our third year students have had a rather unique law school experience. Their first year, under Dean Bowman, a man many of them loved and respected, was one of turmoil. During their second year, they experienced a second dean, while Leon Corbett ably served as Acting Dean. They also studied under a small number of faculty members owing to the departure of several senior faculty members. Their third and final year brought them a new dean and six new faculty members they had to mold, shape, and internalize. It has not been easy for them. But they too, as each of you know, are now part of the Wake Forest tradition. As they arrive in the courts or begin to utilize their legal skills in a myriad of ways, please welcome them into your community and share your experiences with them.

Jurist Interview

MAYOR EDDIE KNOX

"I think the mayors of this country are going to start having more impact on what happens in this country."

—Mayor Eddie Knox
(Charlotte, March 1980)

Editor's Note: In December of 1979, H. Edward Knox (J.D. '63) was elected Mayor of the city of Charlotte, NC. At the age of 43, Mr. Knox has demonstrated a phenomenal capacity for accomplishment and leadership.

Mr. Knox attended Wake Forest School of Law as a Babcock Scholar. While here, he served as President of the Student Bar Association. Following graduation in 1963, Mr. Knox began law practice in Charlotte, where he is a partner in the firm of Wardlow, Knox, Knox, Robinson & Freeman.

Eddie Knox has a distinguished record of civic service. He was appointed by Governor Dan K. Moore to the N.C. Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and won election to the N.C. Senate in 1971, serving until 1974. While in the Senate, Mr. Knox acted as Chairman of the Mecklenberg Legislative Delegation and as Chairman of the N.C. Commission on Correctional Programs (the "Knox Commission"). He has been and continues to be extremely active in the civic affairs of Charlotte.

Currently, Mr. Knox is President of the Alumni Association of the School of Law, having served an extended term in that capacity. In 1978 he chaired the Law School's Fund Raising Committee and was instrumental in increasing contributions by 40 per cent. In addition to all his other duties, Mr. Knox is also Chairman of the powerful N.C. Advisory Budget Commission. He is married to the former Frances Steagall and has four children.

On March 10, 1980, Jurist staff member Chuck Morgan visited Mr. Knox in the Mayor's office. The following interview is derived from their hour-long conversation.

Q. Your interest in politics is deep-seated, and your experience in politics has been diverse. Why did you want to be Mayor of Charlotte?

A. "Charlotte is at a unique point in its history. We are a suburban city on the verge of becoming an urban city. I think it is particularly important to the people in this community what kind of leadership they are going to have. People are going back to the concept that government must be closer to the people. I really believe that the future of politics is right where I am, at the local level."

Q. Exactly what do you do as Mayor?

A. "Functionally my job is to help give a sense of direction to where the city is going. I believe it is incumbent upon the Mayor as chief spokesman for the city not only to serve as a good-will ambassador, but also to help promulgate programs that effect the quality of life in this community."

Q. You have been described as a workaholic. Tell us about your typical week.

A. "I work approximately eighty hours a week, and split my time between my mayoral duties and my legal duties with the firm. I am very happy when I work. My most depressing moments are generally Sunday afternoons when I come home from church with nothing to do. I stay pretty charged up being involved with the issues. More people ought to get involved."

Q. Half your time is devoted to your law practice. What type of practice do you have?

A. "I'm still a very active practitioner. We are pretty much in the general practice of law. I do a lot of trial work — obviously not as much as before because of time limitations. I enjoy the trial aspects of law primarily because that gives me a chance to interact with juries, and it has an aura of competition about it that appeals to me."

Q. What particular legal experience can you think of which might be of the greatest benefit to one who like yourself has aspired to political office?

A. "Lawyers have an unusual characteristic which enables them to do the job. Lawyers are uniquely qualified because it takes a right strong intellect to get where we have gotten. We are taught the art of compromise, a very skilled trait of a political leader. We understand how to manipulate and to be decisive. Finally, lawyers are trained to stand in the trenches. Whereas there may not be any apparent similarity between representing a person for first degree murder with the consequent worry about him going off for life in prison or to the gas chamber, and being the mayor of a city, there is an element of toughness about it that lawyers have learned to live with."

Q. How have your law practice and your political offices interacted?

A. "I've always thought it most important as a politician that I be a successful lawyer, both economically and qualitatively. For example, one of the major causes of corruption in this country is that so many people in politics are solely dependent on their job. I must earn a living first, to be independent enough to make judgment decisions in handling the public's interest."

Q. You served in the state Senate, on numerous commissions, and presently act in the dual capacities of Mayor of Charlotte and Chairman of the Advisory Budget Commission. Do you have any future political aspirations?

A. "I was drawn to the General Assembly because I felt at the time there was a need for a different type of leadership. I served in Raleigh until I accomplished what I thought was a new vitalization of our position with the legislators, as well as some programs that I was interested in. How long I'll be here in the mayor's office will depend on whether I have accomplished what I set out to do, plus the people keeping me here. People are always saying that I'm going to run for governor, and I may, I don't know. It will depend on a lot of events, not the least of which will be my satisfaction with the kind of leadership we have."

Q. What were your major accomplishments during your tenure as state senator?

A. "While in the legislature I sponsored legislation and actively supported such new programs as Public Kindergarten, Programs for Exceptional Children, community-based alternatives for undisciplined children, mandatory state study of mass transit and rapid transit alternatives, and the Energy Crisis Study Commission. I worked for the rights of the mentally ill by leading the effort creating the Mental Patient Bill of Rights. I introduced the first local option liquor-by-the-drink legislation. Finally I chaired the North Carolina Penal Study Commission, otherwise known as the "Knox Commission," which made broad reforms in the prisons and sponsored the Presumptive Sentencing Act."

Q. What about Wake Forest impressed you the most when you were in the law school?

A. "'Nig' Lee was a great teacher, for the simple reason that he was different. I liked him because he spoon-fed me. After all, I was interested in gathering information. I wanted to know what the law was. On the other hand, I go back and examine people like Dr. Divine. I tend to follow "Foggy" Divine's approach. It's a standard comment in my office, 'When you can't find the law, find an idiot and he'll give you a theory.' So much of that theory came from a combination of Lee and Divine. That contrast really made our law school. I have nothing but praise for Wake Forest. That's why I was delighted to come back to try and help raise some money for the school."

Q. While you were President of the Lawyers Alumni Association, the law school reached a new plateau in fund-raising. Contributions rose by 40 per cent. Why do you feel such a strong commitment to Wake Forest?

A. "Well, the accreditation of the law school is in jeopardy. The thing that really perplexes me from a fund-raising point of view, is that I see guys who came to that school, and because Wake Forest took them in are making gobs of money. But they are not replenishing and reseeding what future generations are going to need. I've always felt that it was a part of our duty to help give some of that back. Being a lawyer is a rare privilege, and for Wake Forest to have given me that opportunity tells me that I owe something in return."

LAW SCHOOL NEWS

JUDICIAL CLERKSHIPS ADDED TO CURRICULUM

This Spring, the faculty has approved a judicial clerkship program for credit as part of the law school curriculum. The course is open to students who have completed Introduction to Procedure and Civil Procedure I and who have completed or are enrolled in Civil Procedure II. Professor Don Castleman is in charge of the program which begins this summer.

Students participating in the program will be placed as law clerks with participating judges in the state or federal courts and will serve for one semester. Three hours of ungraded (pass-fail) credit for participation during the summer semester, and two hours credit for the fall or spring term, will be given.

Professor Castleman will supervise students in the clerkship program; classroom meetings and written reports will play a role in evaluating student experiences and progress. Clerkships usually may be served in any location desired by the student, including courts located in other states.

PROFESSOR FRED DAVIS

The Law School's newest faculty member is Professor Fred Davis. He comes to us from the University of Missouri at Columbia School of Law, where he established himself as one of the country's leading authorities on Administrative Law. Professor Davis received his undergraduate degree from Yale in 1948. He earned his J.D. with a specialization in International Affairs in 1953 from Cornell. While in law school Professor Davis served on the Board of Editors of the Cornell Law Review. He subsequently obtained his LL.M. with Honours from Victoria University of Wellington.

Following law school Professor Davis practiced law in New York City as an associate with Engel, Judge, and Miller. His interests turned to teaching, however, so from 1954 to 1966 he taught at Victoria University of Wellington, Pennsylvania, New York University, South Dakota, and Emery. In 1966 he joined the faculty at the University of Missouri, where he remained until coming to Wake Forest.

Professor Davis has worked closely with the Missouri Trial Lawyers Association where he served both as a legislative consultant and as a speaker at their meetings. He served as a consultant for the Missouri Senate Committee on Administrative Procedure Reform, and was instrumental in the adoption of the Administrative Procedure and Rules Publication Acts. Professor Davis is currently on the Board of Editors of the Administrative Law Review and is a consultant with the Administrative Conference of the United States. He has served on several A.B.A. committees on Administrative Law. He has also written numerous articles for various legal journals throughout his career.

Professor Davis is currently teaching Administrative Law and Torts at Wake Forest. He is married and has four children. He is both well-liked and highly respected by his students. The Jurist welcomes Professor Davis and his family to Wake Forest and to North Carolina.

LAW DAY 1980

Law Day was held this year at Bermuda Run Country Club on April 12, 1980. Over 400 students, faculty, and alumni gathered at the annual feast for an evening of dining, awards and ceremonies, speeches, and dancing. This year's Law Day, sponsored by the Student Bar Association, was an unqualified success.

Linda Stott, SBA President for 1979-80, presided over the evening's ceremonies. Dean Scarlett warmly welcomed those in attendance and inducted the following new officers of the SBA in a brief swearing-in: Betsy Warren,President; Al Kwasikpui, Vice President; Kris Edwards, Secretary; and John Mann, Treasurer.

This year's awards included the Jurist Excellence in Teaching Award and the Jurist-SBA Outstanding Alumnus Award (see related stories). A special award and tribute was also given to Mrs. Jean Wilson, whose resignation from her position as Director of Admissions caused sorrow to many. During her tenure, Mrs. Wilson set standards and conducted the business of her office in a manner which will be impossible to match. Peyton Hairston as President of the Black American Law Students Association and Katherine Fortino as President of Women in Law honored Mrs. Wilson for her special efforts regarding admission of Wake Forest's highly qualified women and minority law students.

The featured speaker of the evening was United States Senator Dale Bumpers, Democrat from Arkansas. Senator Bumpers is an attorney and is former Governor of his home state of Arkansas. In the Senate, Senator Bumpers serves as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, the Energy & National Resources Committee, and the Select Committee on Small Businesses. A wryly amusing speaker, Senator Bumpers talked about the imminence of the energy crisis and our necessary sacrifices as a nation to preserve strength and leadership in world affairs. Senator Bumpers' attendance was brought about through the hard work of law student Gary Thomas and the good offices of North Carolina's Senator Robert Morgan, a close friend of Senator Bumpers.

After ceremonies, guests were treated to music provided by "The Jazz Ensemble" from the North Carolina School of the Arts. Dancing continued until early morning.

EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD

Former Dean Pasco M. Bowman II has received the Jurist Excellence in Teaching Award for 1980. Sally Foster, Jurist Managing Editor, presented the Award to Dean Bowman, now Dean at the University of Missouri at Kansas City School of Law, during ceremonies held on Law Day, April 12, 1980.

Now in its second year, the Excellence in Teaching Award is presented annually to the professor chosen by the third-year class for outstanding teaching ability. Any professor who has taught members of the third-year class is eligible to receive the Award, except the previous year's winner is not eligible in the immediately following year. Professor I. Boyce Covington was given the Award for 1979. The class decision is made by secret ballot.

Dean Bowman, who resigned from Wake Forest in 1978, taught contracts during the first year of the graduating class. He earned the respect and affection of many during that year, and is universally regarded as an excellent professor of law. Approximately ninety percent of the graduating class participated in the voting.

This year's Award is somewhat unusual because the recipient is not presently teaching at Wake Forest. When first contacted, three days before Law Day on Saturday, Dean Bowman was in San Antonio, Texas, attending meetings scheduled to end Saturday morning. Accepting the invitation to attend Law Day without hesitation, Dean Bowman rearranged his crowded schedule in order to arrive in time for dinner at Bermuda Run Country Club. On arrival, he received a standing ovation from the crowd of over 400 students, faculty, and alumni.

Dean Bowman's resignation in 1978 came at the end of an emotional and protracted controversy, which is familiar to most if not all alumni. The Jurist wishes Dean Bowman well in his career beyond Wake Forest; aside from one's emotions concerning past occurrences, Dean Bowman is a man easily liked and highly deserving of this year's Excellence in Teaching Award.

OUTSTANDING ALUMNUS

The Jurist-SBA Outstanding Alumnus Award was presented to the Honorable Hiram H. Ward at the Law Day Program at Bermuda Run Country Club on April 12. A native of Thomasville, NC, Judge Ward has had a career filled with distinguished service to the state, the nation, and the School of Law. Judge Ward received his LL.B. cum laude from Wake Forest in 1950. He is currently a member of the Board of Visitors of the School of Law and actively participates on the Board's Committee on Extracurricular Activities, which oversees the Law Review, Moot Court, SBA, Student Trial Bar, and other student groups. Judge Ward's son James Randolph Ward graduated from the Wake Forest School of Law in 1977.

President Nixon appointed Judge Ward in 1972 to the federal judgeship for the United States District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina. Since that time, Judge Ward has brought much honor to Wake Forest as an eminent and highly-respected jurist. Before his appointment, Judge Ward's career record includes: Technical Sergeant in the US Army Air Corps (1940-45); staff attorney for the National Production Authority (1951-52); partner in the firm of De Lapp, Ward & Hendrick in Lexington, NC (1952-72); Chairman of the Federal Land Condemnation Commission (1964); member of the NC Board of Elections (1964-72); and member of the NC Commission on Elections and Voting Abuses (1971-72). At present, Judge Ward serves as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Civil Air Patrol and is a member of the Masons.

In commending Judge Ward as an outstanding alumnus, Dean Emeritus Carroll W. Weathers said: "I think Judge Ward is an eminent federal jurist with a judicial temperament that seeks to find the proper conclusion to any matter before him. He has a fine legal mind and the courage to stand by his convictions. He is an exceptionally able lawyer and judge, and I have unqualified admiration for his ability and character." The officers of the SBA and the members of the Jurist Board of Editors were unanimous in their choice of Judge Ward. The Jurist is proud to include his name among the recipients of the Outstanding Alumnus Award.

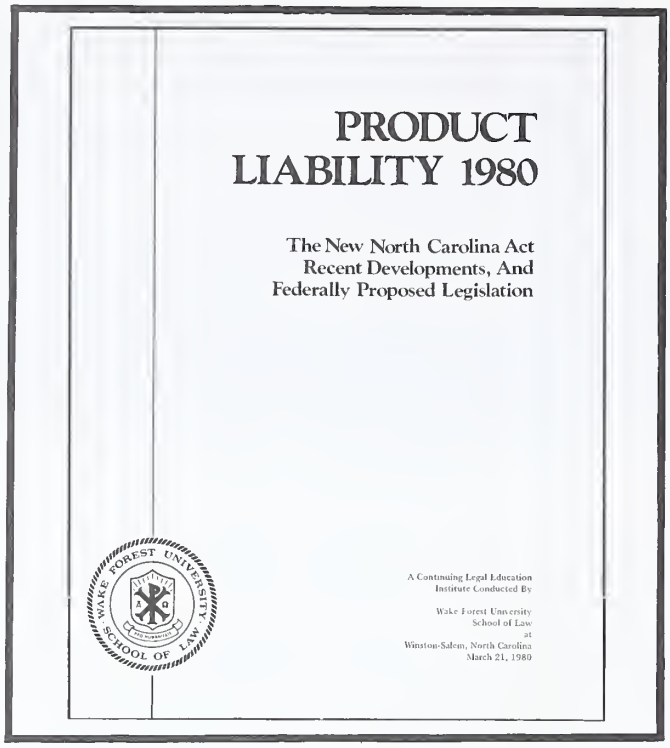
SBA Pres. Elizabeth Warren and the Hon. Hiram H. Ward

LAW SCHOOL TELETHON

Deep in the recesses of the imposing Reynolda Hall at Wake Forest University lies a room that is equipped each January with rows of sterile black telephones. Their receivers wait in eager anticipation for the arrival of the most nobel and courageous of law students, the volunteers for the annual Wake Forest University School of Law Telethon. Each dial recognizes that these students come to the battle because of their devotion and concern for the school, not to mention promises of brownies and cokes and the possibility of winning a case of beer. Proud to be a part of the general onslaught of the alumni, the cradles willingly lend up their receivers and the dials submit themselves to the ensuing torture of non-stop conversations for two hours.

This year's battle front extended from Manteo to California and from Florida to Maine, a formidable front for some, but not for the noble Western Electric Units, their commanders, and lest we forget, their nightly team captains. The first night, second year student Kathy Fortino initiated the attack. At first, all was volley and thunder. However, at the end of the evening and a few cauliflower ears later, the pledges numbered 150 and the students had raised $9,205 for the law school. With visions of new reporters and hornbooks dancing in their heads, the troops retired, leaving the telephones to their well deserved solitude. The receivers recouperated during the following day just in time to welcome Captain John Lassiter and his eager brigade of volunteers. Having had one night's experience, the phones effortlessly guided the troops to an all time record of $11,830 from 187 pledges. The students were well on their way to meeting their week's goal of $27,000. The next night, January 23, 1980, Captain Lynn Yerges entered the arena with the calm cool confidence of one who is an old hand at telethons. Swiftly and deftly the old master guided her comrades through the night, adding yet another $5,300 to the fund. The phones took their nightly abuse with dignity and on the last night aided their mortal counterparts in attaining and surpassing their goal by $3,065.

The week over, the students returned to the lesser pleasures of law school life and the phones rested safely, knowing that the future of legal education at Wake Forest is bright. Many, many thanks to the alumni who submitted to the interrupted suppers, the missed last half of "The Waltons," the momentarily neglected briefs, and graciously made their generous pledges.



CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

Continuing Legal Education (CLE) presented a Product Liability Institute on March 21 at the School of Law. The Institute attracted 200 attorneys who came to hear noted experts discuss the new North Carolina legislation, recent developments, and federally proposed legislation. This was the first of several institutes being planned by Professor Charles Taylor, recently appointed director of Wake Forest's Continuing Legal Education program.

Speakers for the Institute on Product Liability included Charles F. Blanchard of Blanchard, Tucker, Twiggs & Denson in Raleigh, NC, and Professors Fred Davis and Henry C. Lauerman of Wake Forest. Jimmy Barnhill of Womble, Carlyle, Sandridge & Rice in Winston-Salem, NC, offered comments on preparation for product liability litigation. Edward T. Barrett spoke on the new federally proposed Model Uniform Product Liability Act. Barrett is Project Director for the Task Force on Product Liability and Accident Compensation of the US Department of Commerce.

The Wake Forest CLE program had a good beginning. The March 21 Institute was fully subscribed, and both the day-long program and its accompanying manuscript were of a high caliber. Two other programs to be held on the Wake Forest campus will follow: an Estate Planning Seminar for professionals on May 9 and 10, sponsored with the University's Estate Planning Program, and a Trial Advocacy course June 4 through 7, in conjunction with the NC Academy of Trial Lawyers.

Wake Forest's CLE program will be coordinated with the NC Bar Association and its similar CLE program. Professor Taylor indicated that the Wake Forest role will be to supplement other programs and to fill primary needs not otherwise met.

One area that the Wake Forest CLE program plans to fill is that of keeping practitioners in NC up to date on annual changes in the law, including important statutory, judicial, and regulatory developments. Professor Taylor is planning to conduct an annual NC Practice Review Institute at several locations around the state, beginning in the last half of 1980. A typical Review Institute would consist in a team of two practitioners and two law professors giving presentations during a day and a half. The Review Institute will allow private, corporate, and government attorneys to stay current in areas of the law other than those in which they are directly engaged. Wake Forest Professors of Law Jim Sizemore and Don Castleman will be joined by two practicing attorneys to present the first NC Practice Review Institute. Individual brochures announcing registration will be mailed.

Professor Taylor pointed out that eight states have mandatory continuing legal education and that the average attorney nationally attends three and a half seminars for approximately twenty-four hours total each year. North Carolina does not require continuing education for attorneys, but the Bar Association sponsors a College of Advocacy which grants admission to those attorneys attending forty-five hours of approved continuing legal education within a three-year period.

A number of other areas are being considered for CLE programs in the second half of 1980: an annual taxation institute, a family law institute, and an institute for general practitioners focusing on computers in legal research and law office management. Information on each of these programs will soon be available.

CLE Publications Available

Recent Wake Forest University CLE Publications are designed to offer the knowledge and skills obtained by experts through years of specialized experience. The first in the series, Product Liability: The New North Carolina Act, Recent Developments, and Federally Proposed Legislation (March, 1980), is now available.

Product Liability, a soft-bound volume containing a collection of essays and the federally proposed model products liability statute along with commentary, may be obtained for $35.00 by sending a check for that amount, payable to Wake Forest School of Law, to: CLE, Wake Forest School of Law, PO Box 7206 Reynolda Station, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27109. (The sale price includes postage and handling.) Please give your full name, address, and zip code and request the book in writing. If after ten (10) days' examination you should decide not to retain this publication, a full refund will be returned to you.

MOOT COURT COMPETITION

The Tax Law Team sponsored by the Moot Court Board won the Mugel Federal Tax Law Competition in Buffalo, New York, on March 29, 1980. William Mills ('80) and Martin Garcia ('81) defeated teams from the University of Buffalo and Seton Hall University in preliminary rounds before defeating St John's University in the final round. Twenty-seven teams from across the country entered the competition.

Other Moot Court Competition Teams have also met success this semester. The Intramural Law Team won "Best Memorial" in the Southeastern United States Regional of the Philip C. Jessup International Law Competition held at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida, on March 9, 1980. Debra Meyer ('80), Richard Poole ('80), Richard Glazier ('81), and Fred Granum ('81) comprised the team. The winning brief or "memorial" has been submitted to represent the Southeastern Region in the national finals. The best brief at the national level will be submitted for international honors.

Rick Glazier, Fred Granum, Debra Meyer, and Richard Poole

In the Craven Memorial Competition held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill February 27 through March 1, 1980, the Wake Forest team was a semi-finalist from a field of twenty-four teams. Beating Temple University and losing to Brigham Young in the preliminary rounds, the team of Richard Huffman ('81), Marshall Hurley ('81), and Gordon Widenhouse ('81) defeated UCLA in the quarter-final round before a narrow defeat by the competition's eventual winner, St John's University.

Martin Garcia and William Mills

In intramural appellate advocacy activity, the Legal Bibliography Moot Court Competition posed the difficult constitutional issues arising from state regulation of charitable solicitations engaged in by religious organizations. The problem, drawn from the Charlotte-based PTL Club and their recent dispute with the State of North Carolina, was briefed and argued by forty-four first-year students. Ron Mack defeated Larry Fine by less than one-half point in the final round.

The 1980-81 officers of the Moot Court Board have been elected: Fred Granum will serve as Chief Justice and Marilyn Forbes will serve as Associate Justice.

CARROLL W. WEATHERS AWARD

The Congressional Record on December 4, 1979, noted the accomplishments of retired Dean Emeritus Carroll W. Weathers in reporting his receipt of an award established in his honor. Dean Weathers on November 10, 1979, became the first recipient of the Carroll W. Weathers Distinguished Service Award. The award, established by the Wake Forest University Lawyer Alumni Association, recognizes service to the law school and to the alumni association.

This award in his name is only the latest of many honors by which Dean Weathers' accomplishments have been recognized. Dean Emeritus Weathers served as Dean of Wake Forest University School of Law from 1950 until 1970. He continued to serve on the faculty as a professor of law and Dean Emeritus until his retirement on June 1, 1972. His interest has not waned, however, and his is still frequently seen around the school.

The alumni association's secretary, Professor James E. Sizemore of Wake Forest School of Law, presented the award at the law school's annual homecoming banquet at Bermuda Run. Chief Justice Joseph Branch of the North Carolina Supreme Court was among the speakers at the banquet. WAKE FOREST SCHOOL OF LAW
1980 ALUMNI DIRECTORY

To celebrate the beginning of a new decade, the staff of the Jurist has compiled the 1980 Alumni Directory. Contained in the Directory are business addresses for Wake Forest University School of Law graduates through the 1979 graduating class. The organizing principle of the Directory is geographical: the listing is alphabetical first by country (Canada, England, Germany, United States), second by state, next by city, and finally by last name of alumni within the city. An Index containing an alphabetical listing by name, with cross-reference to location, appears at the end.

A cardinal tenet of Lord Bacon's in his The Advancement of Learning (1605) is that the communication of knowledge should in itself reveal the methodology employed to obtain the knowledge, that subsequent examination of the basic data may be more critically undertaken. We began with the list of Law Alumni maintained by the University Development Office and then proceeded to the 1980 edition of Martindale-Hubble, supplementing the research by our own records as well as public sources within the North Carolina legal community. Whenever only an alumnus' home address was available, or there was uncertainty whether a given address was for home or business, we sought to maintain an appropriate degree of privacy by giving only the name of that alumnus.

We hope our readers will find the Directory to be of more than passing interest; although the legal profession is one in which much mobility exists, it is the lawyer's stable relation to community which gives the profession its characteristic hallmark. In addition to informing alumni of the location of their classmates, we hope the Directory may prove useful in establishing and maintaining relations among Wake Forest alumni, heretofore unaquainted, in the many communities throughout the United States, in Canada, England, and Germany where the legacy of the School of Law is known.
